This book is mostly a reference for garden plants but also has some helpful information and tips on gardening in general. This year I bought the Red Ace Hybrid beet based on Derek's recommendation. His reason was that it grows faster than the regular Detroit Red. My mom wanted her Detroit Red so I ordered it for her and ordered the Red Ace for myself. My beets are way ahead of hers! I also tried the Burpee Golden Beet and it will be in my garden again. Imagine taking red beet eggs that are a golden color! I've thought about adding a few red beets to the goldens to give it a fire orange color!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A must read.By CDThis is a great book. Very informative, tells you which seeds to purchase for vegetables, fruits and plants.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Donald KelsoPerfect. Thanks

What gardeners want most is a bigger and better return on their investment of time and money—maximum yields and superior flavor for edibles, long-lasting blooms for flowers. Derek Fell's Grow This! features expert advice for choosing and growing the top-performing plants (and avoiding the ones that disappoint). Derek Fell has grown hundreds of varieties and annually visits gardens and test plots across America, so he's qualified to guide gardeners to the best of the best—more than 600 vegetable, flower, herb, and lawn grass all-stars. He offers honest feedback about plant performance, even when it contradicts favorable public opinion or a grower's claims. Seed racks may be filled with Kentucky Wonder' snap beans, but he dismisses that variety as too fibrous and needy and instead recommends Blue Lake' beans for tenderness and high yields. Fell's firsthand experience means the difference between choosing plant winners and losers. Packed with insider evaluations from seedsmen, growers, and nursery retailers that readers won't find elsewhere, Derek Fell's Grow This! explains industry lingo and debunks marketing hype to help gardeners select the best-performing plants for all garden conditions and goals.
