Timeless design (classy even in an adobe!) that holds up remarkably well. Quite a few modern homes being built today could do with a bit of the Frances Elkins touch.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Adlee EfraimA life-changing book. The Zellerbach commission in San Francisco and the Reed commission in Lake Forest are particularly spectacular.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy Douglas ReymerMrs. Parish can never hold a candle to the talent of Frances Elkins.

The career of Frances Adler Elkins (1888-1953), sister of renowned Chicago architect David Adler, spanned more than three decades. An avant-garde decorator and arbiter of taste, Elkins was celebrated for inspired designs that integrated various periods and styles, from country French to chinoiserie to art deco, and featured furnishings by such modern designers as Jean-Michel Frank and Alberto Giacometti. This book offers a tour of twenty-nine luxurious Elkins interiors, including several collaborations with Adler. Elkins's illustrious clientele extended from coast to coast and as far afield as Hawaii, including many private and public commissions in northern and southern California and the Midwest. Generously illustrated with 160 stunning color photographs as well as black-and-white photos, the book includes a list of selected clients and a visual inventory of selected furniture, fabrics, wallpapers, and accessories favored by Elkins. 100 color and 60 b/w illustrations

Though her rooms might blend Asian antiques with Queen Anne and Chippendale, a modern undercurrent could always be felt in the emphasis on order, balance and serenity. - The Washington Post [L]avishly illustrated Her subtle genius is captured by the numerous color photos - World of Interiors About the Author Stephen M.
