I was expecting a ring-bound notebook/diary since that was the description, something she could use for a year or two then find a new notebook. My definition of notebook is apparently different because this is a binder. Like what students carry around? It is still really cool and even impressed my fiance with all the dividers and labels and everything it comes with INCLUDING an order sheet for paper refills. A very good way to track your garden and what grows best and what the rainfall was like that season, etc.

This Book Is a planning, Inspiration, and Journal, help you plan for the future, collect ideas and inspirations, and record essential facts, observations and joys of gardening. Five garden sections let you plan and describe your garden in detail, with labels for you to customize
