Vintage knowledge of hot plantsBy Bernie (xyzy)Anne Dorrance, author of "Green Cargoes" writes of not exotic orangery's as the Orangerie, Karlsau, Wilhelmshohe, Cassel i.e., Kassel, Hesse-Nassau, Germany. But of a more intimate greenhouse in the hills of Pennsylvania. The book comes with directions or hand drawn diagrams of greenhouse design and maintenance. There are practical stories of do's and don'ts abut setting up a greenhouse. We need to take in consideration the materials of the time. This is a 1935 book. There is an Alphabet of flowers section that helps describe different plants in alphabetical order. It helps if you are familiar with a few of them in advance. Chapter 9 is the Ann Dorrance that I am familiar with as she describes the history and proliferation of greenhouses.
