Marylyn Abbott : Gardening With Light Colour before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Gardening With Light Colour:

Encouraging gardeners to reassess their favorite flowers and how they are planted, the focus here is on working with natural light to get the best out of any garden. Readers are led through the color spectrum and given advice on which plants to choose and how to handle them in northern and southern hemisphere gardens, all backed by stunning photography. More than another gardening book, this personal odyssey includes Marylyn Abbott's observations over a lifetime of gardening, stretching from the dry heat of Australia to the colder wetter climates of England. Her inspirational ideas are mingled with down-to-earth advice and hands-on experience in this essential read for gardeners looking for new ideas and interesting plant combinations to add drama, light, and color.

About the AuthorMarylyn Abbott is acknowledged as one of the world's greatest garden creators - BBC2's Gardeners' World made an exclusive programme about her work (2001) and she lectures throughout the world. Both her gardens are open to the public; West Green has been awarded a two-star rating by The Garden Guide. Her other books, both published by Kyle Cathie, are Gardens of Plenty and Marylyn Abbott's Thoughts on Garden Design.
